UNDERSTANDING ELECTRONIC SIGNATURES IN SINGAPORE

Posted on March 10, 2021

Category: Events

General disclaimer

This article is provided to you for general information and should not be relied upon as legal advice. The editor and the contributing authors do not guarantee the accuracy of the contents and expressly disclaim any and all liability to any person in respect of the consequences of anything done or permitted to be done or omitted to be done wholly or partly in reliance upon the whole or any part of the contents.

Event Speakers: Ge Xiaomeng, Sharleen Eio and Hazel Ho-Tsastsina.

In recent years, in line with Singapore's move towards a digital economy, the usage of electronic signing in documents has become more prevalent. The COVID-19 pandemic and various circuit breaker measures have further accelerated this move towards digitalisation. In this webinar, held on 26 March 2021, we shared, amongst other things, the legal framework for the recognition of electronic signatures in Singapore, the extent of such recognition, the risks associated with electronic signing, and the practical steps that you can take to mitigate these risks.

If you will like to view a copy of the slides, please send a request to us by clicking on the contact button above.

Should you wish to be notified about talks similar to this, please sign up for CNPupdate, the firm's newsletter, below. You may also follow CNPLaw via LinkedIn or Facebook.

General disclaimer

This article is provided to you for general information and should not be relied upon as legal advice. The editor and the contributing authors do not guarantee the accuracy of the contents and expressly disclaim any and all liability to any person in respect of the consequences of anything done or permitted to be done or omitted to be done wholly or partly in reliance upon the whole or any part of the contents.